About Me

It goes without saying that I am a passionate graphic designer. I relish in the creative process and enjoy working as a team, feeling that I am a very sociable person. However I also work well on my own initiative. I love the feeling of being constantly challenged by design work, dealing in the business of ideas-led, functional design. I feel that this combination brings out the best of me as a designer.

Skills/Design Experience

I have been studying graphic design for 5 years both at the University of Cumbria and at the James Watt College in Greenock and my experiences during that time have helped shape me as a designer.

Over the past five years, I have gained and developed a range of new skills from working on a diverse range of briefs, from packaging to art direction on fashion photoshoots, from branding to editorial design. During these projects I have experienced art directing and collaborating with photographers and models on a fashion magazine photography shoot, preparing work for print presentation, working alongside and presenting to my peers, meeting strict deadlines and working on multiple projects at any one time

These skills can always be developed further still and I am actively seeking interesting new work, placements and freelance.

Enthusiasms

I enjoy editorial design, I love the idea of being able to bring my two passions together both fashion and design. I have worked in retail part time since I was 16. I worked in Topshop for three years and also new look as a Visual Merchandiser which I feel contributed a lot in my love for editorial and fashion.

Away from design, I m very enthusiastic about music, be that listening to it on my own, going to gigs or festivals, however as much as I try I cant actually play any instruments.
